

Most nights she falls asleep
looking at her phone while
I get tossed aside

She watches
videos of other girls.
But I can't
understand why.

She's the loveliest
girl in the world...

All last night I couldn't breathe.
Kimmy was hugging me so tight. But I can't deny it felt nice to be hugged to sleep in such a long time. Ever since Kimmy turned 14, she forgot all about me.

I remember when we were younger,
we would have tea parties after dinner.
We would each have 1 slice of strawberry cake.

I guess as people get older,
the look at themselves move too.

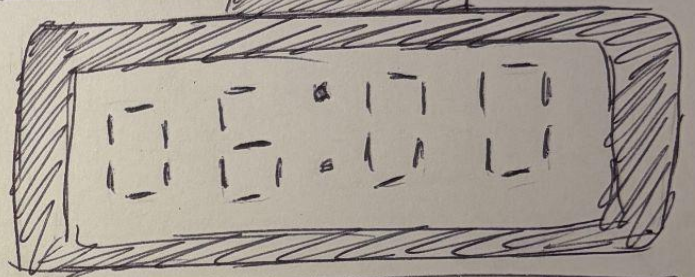

I'm glad she can see the
beauty in herself.

After she comes
back from school
we have a few
hours of quiet
time where
she goes on
her phone again.
She watches the
same videos

6:00 used to be dinnertime, but I don't think we do that anymore

It's a shame because I really
miss our tea parties

I'm starting to get lonelier...
I'm glad that Kimmy can use
her time to do what makes her happy, but I wish I could make her happy too...

Today I started
to wonder.

Maybe Kimmy would play
with me if I looked more
like what was on her phone.
All the girls she watches are
so... thin.

When I looked at myself, I realized
just how many
IMPERFECTIONS
I had.

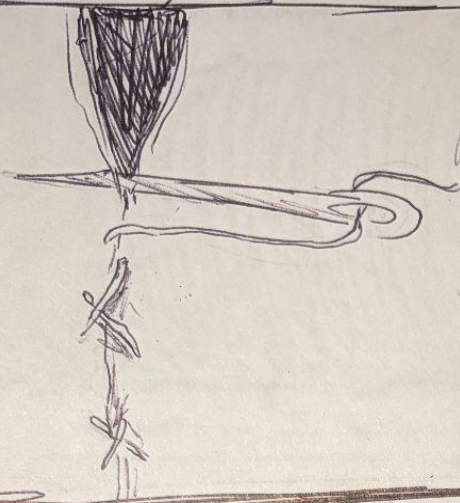

When Jimmy
left for school,

Just enough for me to look like them.

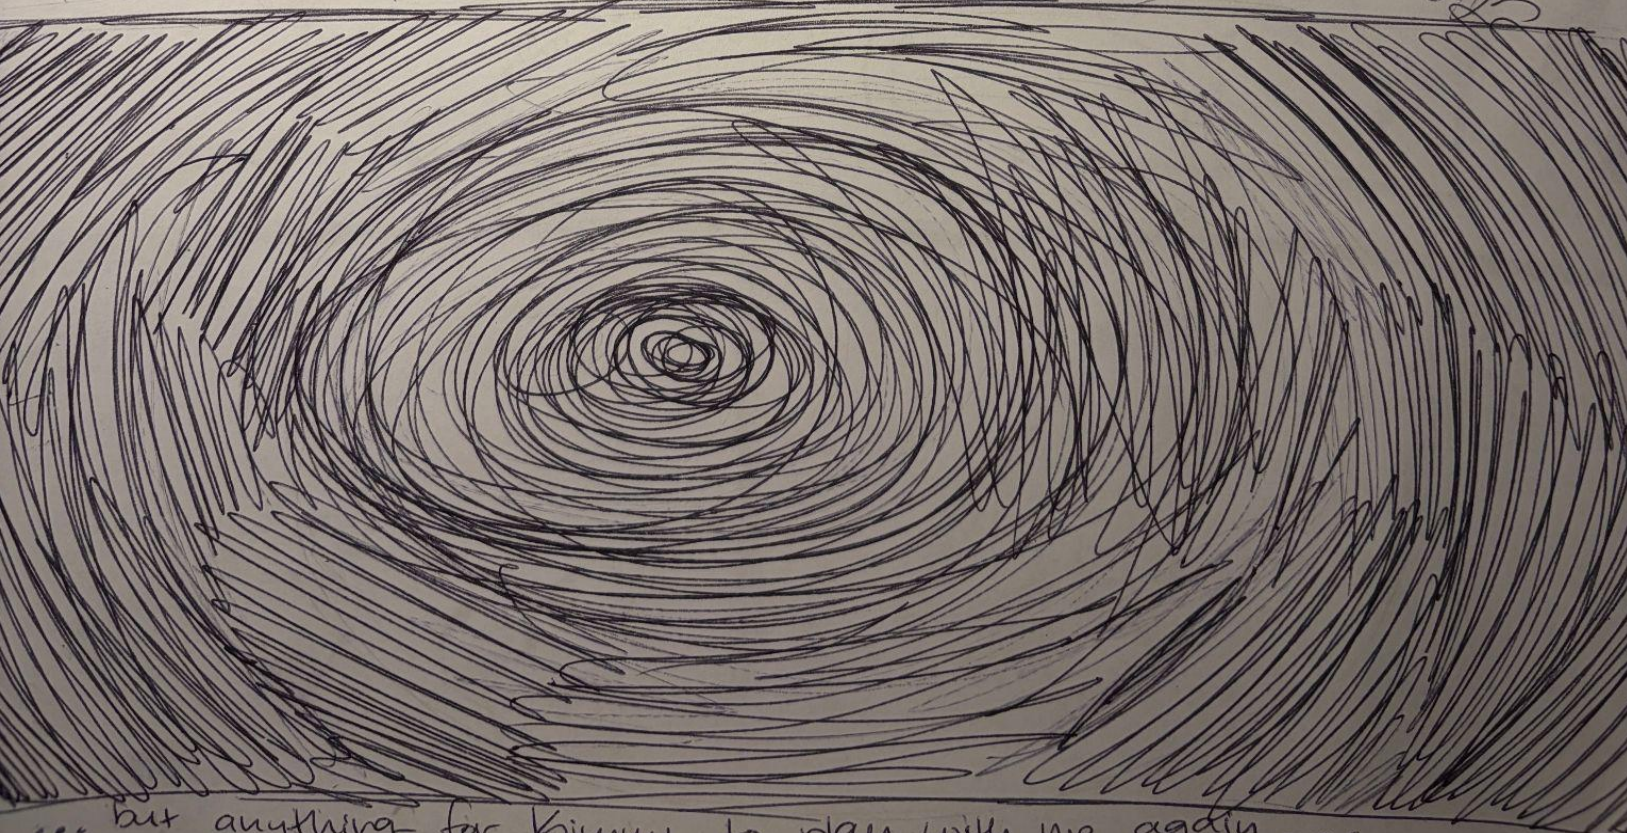

I stitched myself back up
as well as I could.

when I looked down, I saw that
my belly was
gone.

And I started to feel a little ligh + he a de d + o o...

... but anything for Kimmie to play with me again ...

I hear himmy

But
what's that
sound?

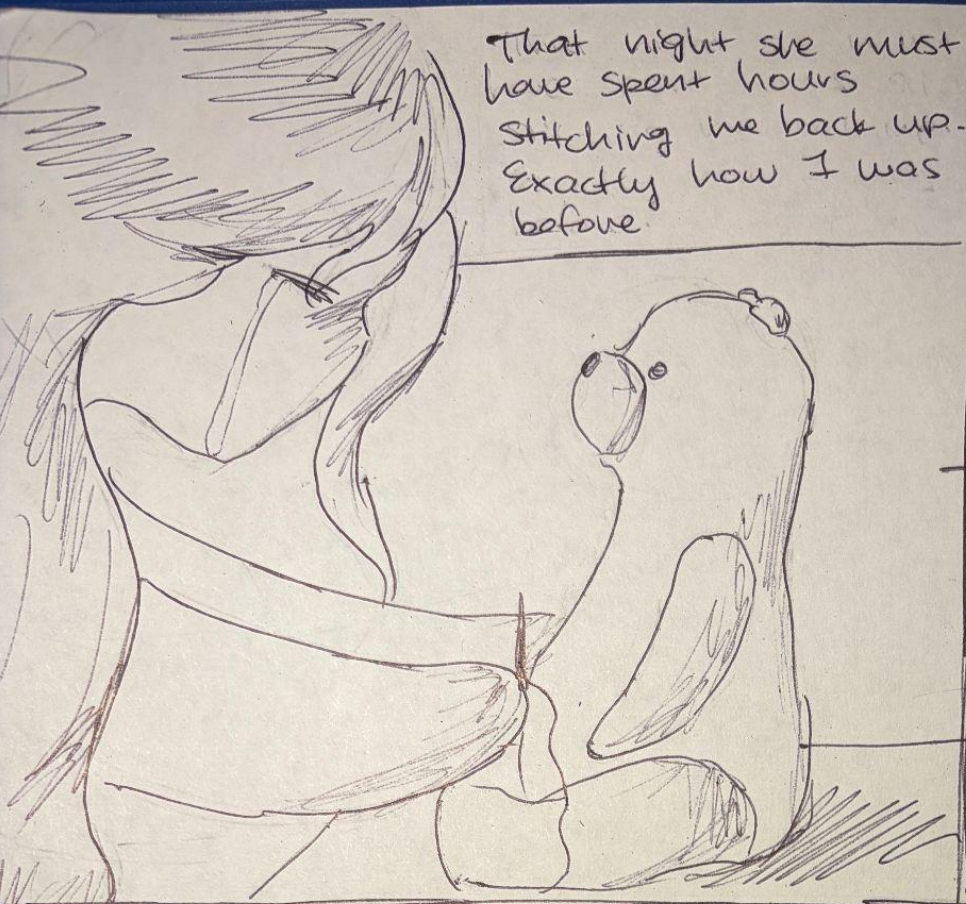

When I woke up... I saw a teddy bears worst nightmare.

Did...
did I make
her cry?

I tried to make her happy but...

Teddy...

My Teddy...

That night she must
have spent hours
stitching me back up.
Exactly how I was before.

I felt... ..Loved.

I think something change
in him too.

She started
mommy a
talking with
lot more.

She stopped looking at her phone so much...

... And we even had a tea party for old times sake.

